I tried reading the document on the traffic pattern, and I have some concerns. First it list there have only been (I believe I read) 8 accident in Worcester street in front of Wyman Gordon's, I find that REALLY difficult to believe considering how many I have seen in the last couple of years. Maybe they just were not all reported, but I feel there numbers are under inflated.

The corner of Brigham Hill & Worcester street is super dangerous. When traffic gets bad it also cause problems on Deernolm & Brigham Hill intersection and I don't see anything covered on that intersection.

I am highly concerned that without some signals & road improvements this will make this even more unsafe.

People trying to avoid this road may start traveling on Deernolm and we already have issues with cars flying down that road. Has any research been done for residual traffic impact?
